Home Mixture for Rheumatism and Kidneys Does Very Much Good.

A large health publication tells its readers of a number of simple and safe prescriptions that can be made at home. The following, however, for the cure of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles receives the greatest praise, viz: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at little cost and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, drinking a full tumbler of water after each dose. It is further stated that this prescription is a positive remedy for kidney trouble and lame back, weak bladder and urinary difficulties, especially of the elderly people, and one of the best things to be used in rheumatic affections, relieving the aches and pains and reducing swellings in just a short while.

A well known local druggist states that this mixture acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys; cleanses these spongelike organs and gives them power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood which is the cause of rheumatism.

Cut this out and hand to some sufferer which would certainly be an act of humanity.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

"THE MAJOR" SMALLEST ADULT ON EARTH

Have you seen the major? If not you have missed the biggest little thing of the down town fair attractions.

Major Charles Gantz, the wonder, is said to be the smallest adult person on earth, being only eighteen inches high and weighing only thirty pounds. He was born Aug. 27, 1865, on a farm near Fairfield, Ia., where he lived, dead in stock until he was thirty years old and then he began exhibiting himself as a human curiosity.

The major wears a No. 7 hat and No. 9 child's shoe. His parents are of normal size, his father being six feet in height, and his five sisters and four brothers all of large size. "I am the smallest of the family, but not the least in importance," said the major last evening. "I started to school when twelve years of age and eventually acquired a high school education. Since I have been on exhibition I have made a small fortune and am independent. I don't care whether school keeps or not but I am looking for a wife. I manage my own show and don't belong to the carnival company. I am independent and so is my show, but I am the whole show."

The major does not exhibit in the winter, but spends the cold months at the home of his parents in Iowa or in traveling about visiting friends. He is of a jovial disposition and popular wherever he goes. A ready wit, answer is ever on his tongue in conversation and with the ladies, especially he is a good fellow. Go see the major.

ISLETA INDIANS ENJOY THE FAIR

It has long been recognized that the Pueblo Indians at Isleta are not only among the most thrifty tribes of the American redman extant, but also that they are among the southwest's most extensive and successful farmers. The Indians have not taken a back seat for any of their Rio Grande valley neighbors agriculturally, and this year they are showing that they are awake to the fact that Albuquerque is having the biggest fair ever, and that an agricultural exhibit is in progress. Today a large delegation drove into the city, clad in their Sunday best red blankets and mocassins, and spending the day mingling with the crowds. A number were interested spectators at the fair grounds this morning, the younger ones keeping more closely within the entrancing precincts of the carnival shows. It was reported that one of the dusky visitors wandered into the Crystal theater on Gold avenue, enjoying yucadeville immensely until the moving pictures started, when he suddenly slipped out of his seat and pattered noiselessly for the open air. There was too much "doing" on that stage for him.

Heart Strength

Heart strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve strength, or Nerve Weakness. It is not one weak heart in a hundred, it is, in fact, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more vitality, more controlling strength. Without that the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds, strengthens, it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen those nerves—re-establish them as needed, with Score 12 to 11—Galgano Knocked Out of the Box.

In a whirlwind finish, the El Paso Eagles came very near losing Matson's Browns out of the first place in the tournament today by knocking Galgano, the Browns' hitherto crack pitcher out of the box.

The game started off ragged as the other games of the tournament had, and the prospect was that it would result in another one sided contest. At the opening of the eighth inning the score stood seven to three in favor of the locals. The Browns made five runs during the first half of the eighth off five hits and to bases on balls, and interest in the game was beginning to lag right, when something happened. Galgano's arm got a kink in it. It was only once and a while that he put a ball over the plate and when he did, an Eagle would rap it out for a base or two. The first Eagle up in the last half of the eighth hit one for bases, Galgano passed the next four forcing in two runs. He struck out the next one and one following flew out, but he lost one hit for two bases scoring three runs. The total for the inning was five runs.

The Browns were retired in order in their half of the ninth, but the local fans still felt that they had the game won by a margin of four runs. The score was eight to twelve. Three errors put the first Eagle up to third base. A hit by the second one scored the run. A sacrifice sent the second Eagle to second base. Another hit scored another run and put another man on first. The next batter forced the runner out at second, but another hit put a runner on first and third bases. The situation took on a very grave aspect. A hit might tie the score and the Browns would win the game. The Eagles had taken a decided brace and were hitting with a vengeance. Galgano must resign the ball to Durham. The Kansas national league pitcher told the catcher to peg the ball to second should the runner on first attempt to steal.

Durham just threw one ball and the game was over. The runner on first did attempt to steal and was caught off the base by ten feet. Corhan taking the peg from the plate.

VOLCANO SHOW IS FINE EXHIBITION

Perhaps the best of the shows under the management of the Russell Hatcher company, is the volcano show which is giving performances in its tent at the corner of Third street and Central avenue. The show given is an excellent one of its kind and those who have seen it recommend it to their friends. The show opens with a series of moving pictures depicting a group of scientists on a journey to the moon, around the moon country and back to earth. They are shot to the dead luminary body from the mouth of a huge cannon in a monster projectile. Upon hitting the satellite they come out of the projectile and begin exploiting the desolate regions around there. They encounter weird looking natives who explode upon touch and vanish in smoke. After a number of thrilling experiences the scientists again enter the projectile and fall back to earth where they are welcomed with enthusiasm by the clodhoppers on this mundane sphere. The next feature of the program is a graphic reproduction of the destruction of St. Pierre, the beautiful city on the island of Martinique. By electrical contrivances the city is shown lighted and a succession of beautiful sky effects rendered. A lecturer explains the scenes and gives an interesting account of the calamity as the scenes are reproduced. Finally the volcano, Mount Pelee, is shown in action and a panorama of the city undergoing destruction. The lighting and spectacular effects of this exhibition always excites vigorous applause from the spectators.

The final act of the show is a series of comic moving pictures.

Hard Times in Kansas. The old days of grasshoppers and drought are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me. The safest and most reliable cough cure and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by all dealers. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free."

CLOVIS HAS MANY GREAT ADVANTAGES

Four Railroads and an Ideal Location are Making the Town Grow at a Rapid Rate.

Clovis, N. M., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—Clovis is the banner town of New Mexico for substantial growth and prosperity for the short length of time it has been in existence. Though but hardly one year old it has a population of 1,000 people and more coming every day. That the town is to be one of the metropolises of New Mexico is conceded by those who have studied the strategic location of the place. It is to the junction of four radiating lines, and will have not only a good connection with eastern markets but will have a direct route to the Gulf. Among the indications of substantial prosperity is the fact that the First National bank of this place, R. C. Reid, president, and W. A. Davis, cashier, though but two months old, has over fifty thousand dollars on deposit. The Roosevelt County Telephone company has a central with fifty phones in use and more coming every day. The town has a water system which is adequate and furnishes an abundant supply of good water from deep wells. A company has been incorporated to put in electric lights.

The Methodist church south has just commenced the erection of a house of worship which will be the first building in town wholly dedicated for religious services. The Baptist are planning to build, and Rev. John R. Guss, synodical missionary of the Presbyterian church, is now on the ground arranging for the organization of a church of that denomination. They will also begin the erection of a building in the near future.

While Clovis is too young to afford a regular school building and there is practically no taxable property to bring in a sufficient income for this winter, the citizens of this place are not behind the times in their realization of the necessity of a good school, and steps have been taken for arranging for adequate school privileges by private subscription. The Commercial club has taken up the matter and school will open the first of next week.

The grading on the cut-off to Cameo is nearly completed and in a very short time this place instead of Texico will be the junction point of the Eastern Railway of New Mexico and the Pecos valley lines of the Santa Fe.

BIG AUTOMOBILES SUGGEST METROPOLIS

"Whew," remarked J. E. Somers, of Plainview, Texas, to a Citizen reporter this morning. "Is this another Colorado Springs? Are you all rich over here, or are you having an automobile parade, or what? I have been standing on this corner fifteen minutes and it seems to me I have seen twenty autos skidding around, big ones too, and a prosperous looking man or bunch of men in every one of them. Then I have run across two garages containing a number more 'dead' ones. I am a little bit struck with metropolitan life myself. Maybe this town wouldn't be a bad place to live. Look out—there comes the 'steenth big forty-horse power car.'"
